

Abstract of the Disclosure

A digital camera and a portable digital device include communication interfaces, respectively, so that a digital image signal of the digital camera is displayed on a display device of the portable digital device, and a user input signal of the portable digital device is processed by the digital camera.

5